VOL. XX.

OWINGSVILLE, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1898.

NO. 15.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The taxpayers of Bath county are hereby notified that the tax for the year 1898 have been made out and placed in my hands. You are therefore notified to call at my office and settle.

J. M. ATCHISON, S. B. C.

There's gubbling in the cornfield. And gubbling in the stubble. Thanksgiving day is coming. And turkeys are in trouble.

Ready-made skirts and wraps, so cheap, at Mrs. Estill's.

Robert S. Estill has sold his interest in Gault, Wells & Co.'s store to his partners and will engage in farming.

For Sale.—A fine lot of first-class shingles, apply to Henry Schwab, at L. R. Slesser's.

Corn is being delivered here at $1.25 per barrel. That seems to be the established price.

Only a few more of those stylish wraps at Mrs. Estill's. Great bargains at $1.50 up.

O. F. Byrnes will address the citizens at Forge Hill on next Monday night, Nov. 7. Everybody come out.

All kinds of dress goods cheaper at Mrs. Estill's than any place in town.

There were cracking big white frosts on the mornings of Friday and Saturday of last week and Tuesday of this week.

For Sale.—Pure-bred Bronze Turkeys: Hens $1.50; Toms $2. Mrs. I. M. Fleming, Owingsville, Ky.

The election next week, hog-killing about the 20th of the month, Thanksgiving the 24th, and Christmas a long month later—what more could a body ask?

The biggest bargains in millinery ever offered in Owingsville at Mrs. Estill's.

Alex Powers, of color, gave S. E. Pratan last week two pairs growing on one stem and weighing 24 pounds. They were perfect fruit and very fine specimens.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—In order to close up my old business, I desire all who are indebted to me to call and settle at once. R. T. GAULT.

It is reported that Sep Hardin and J. R. (Trux) Vice, of near Bethel, had a fight Saturday near Bethel on their return home from this town and Vice was dangerously hurt several times with a knife.

To CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c. Feb 20

N. R. Patterson has bought Mrs. T. J. Young's property on Main street for $1,000 cash and will move into it in a week or two. He contemplates building a new front in early spring next year.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.—Residing in the Owingsville Postoffice Nov. 1, 1898: Jas. Despar, James B. Riley, Jeff Eason, Mrs. Katie Rorer, Edward Oakley, Miss Maggie Johnson. J. N. BROWN, P. M.

Wm. H. Collier, of Plummer's Landing, Fleming county, gets a new Federal pension of $12 per month. Jas. Lowe, of near this town, gets an increase from $8 to $12; J. K. Bates, of Salt Lick, a renewal, $8 to $10.

Old Crisp came Wednesday of last week and put his machine in good working order for the winter season. He turned the crank and let out a smart shower of snowflakes just to show that he could do the trick when he was good and ready.

WANTED.—To buy a farm of 50 or 100 acres, all cash.

FOR SALE, 150 shocks of corn and 5 tons of hay, bluegrass pasture to feed on till Jan. 1st, 1899. Address at once J. J. & W. F. MARK, Flat Creek, Ky.

SEAR TREE GROVE.—Dr. A. W. Walden is planting a grove of old-fashioned sugar trees near his orchard for a pleasant place of resort in the hot season. He has already set out over fifty trees and will increase the grove to 100. They will be a long time coming on, but will be mighty nice when they get a fair growth.

THE TURKEY CROP.—From what information is at hand, the Bath county turkey crop this fall is about one half of what it is in average years. A rainy season like the past summer is bad for young turkeys, and this is given as the cause of the reduced flocks this season. One buyer is reported to be buying, paying 6 cents per pound on foot. The turkey shippers mostly lost money last season and they are chary of engaging in the business again.

DRIVING RACE AGAINST TIME.—Considerable interest was aroused in a little water here last Saturday. One of the young sports wagered that Dr. Taulbee couldn't find his mare in a buggy from Paris' livery stable to Preston in 19 minutes. Doctor and Eugene Brother rode behind the mare and each timed the race. The Taulbees side claimed the race in 18 minutes and 55 seconds; the other side claimed it was 19:05. The distance is about 6 miles. The wager was withdrawn.

NEW GOODS.—Newton Johnson, of Grange City, has returned from the city and wishes to announce to his friends and customers that his stock is full and complete. He is fixed to make prices to please his customers. 12 tf HORSEBACK ACCIDENT.—Miss Enlah Horsman rides horseback in school. Wednesday of last week, as it was raining and muddy, Miss Louisa Ross got on behind her, to come to school. One of the girls hoisted an umbrella, which frightened the horse and it wheeled around suddenly, throwing both the girls off on the hard turnpike. Miss Louisa was painfully bruised.

SALE.—On Saturday, Nov. 12th, at 4 o'clock, the undersigned will sell all of my stock—horses, mules and cattle,—about 500 bbls. of corn, fodder, tobacco, etc., and household goods. T. J. JONES, Wyoming, Ky.

METEORIC SHOWER.—Some astronomers are advertising the biggest show of celestial pyrotechnics seen from the earth in many years, to be on for Nov. 12th and 27th. In the form of burning meteors. To be certain to not miss the show observers are advised to begin at 11 o'clock on the night of Nov. 11th and keep watch each night until on the morning of Nov. 15th for the first exhibit.

AFTER GAME-LAW VIOLATIONS.—The Custer Club of Cincinnati and Cornington has a large poster on the Court-house bulletin board here offering a reward of ten dollars for the conviction of any one for killing partridges or pheasants and for catching fish against the law, the ten dollars to go to the informer. This is in addition to the reward under the State law.

THE NEW CROP.—The new crop barley that has reached this market so far has been most disappointing. The tobacco is thin, with no gum, dingy in appearance, lifeless, and in truth very unsuitable for filler purposes. Not a single hoghead of color or bright has been seen on the market so far this season. Generally if any brights are in the crop they appear among the first offerings in the shape of trushes or low grades, but this season we have no indication coming from this quarter that brights are plentiful, or even in moderate supply in the '98 crop of barley.—Louisville Weed.

REPAIRING NOTES.—C. C. Howell's mill house is about completed and the machinery will be installed this week probably.

Contractor J. W. Smith is rushing Peed's livery stable to completion with all possible dispatch. The Electric-light company's building has been remodeled and is now a more sightly structure.

The foundation of L. O. Kimbrough's residence is about completed and the carpenter work will be under way soon.

It is reported that several prominent farmers of the county are desirous of moving to town, but every dwelling and business house here is occupied. Without something unforeseen happens several residences and business houses will be erected next year.

MARK A. BENDISHT AGAIN.—Woodhull, Ill., Oct. 29, 1898.—Editor of THE OWINGSVILLE OUTLOOK. Dear Sir: Will you please give space to the following:—

Married, at Cambridge, Henry Co., Ill., Oct. 27, 1898, Marcus W. Bailey, formerly of Owingsville, Kentucky, to Miss Martha S. Bowen, of Lebanon, Ohio. This worthy and happy couple are receiving the congratulations of their many friends in and around Woodhull, Ill. GEN. CROSTOX.

The foregoing is correct. M. W. BAILEY.

Everybody in this country knows clever, genial Mark Bailey and but such was the case. Sanders' friends would try to release him as he pressed Crittenden, but such was the case. Sanders says Frank was trying to kill him with a shot-gun, when he held him to the gun and shot Frank, killing him instantly. Evans delivered him to the jailer of Grant Co. and while there learned of the whereabouts of David Sowers, who is wanted in Bath county, Ky., for stealing, and the Sheriff and Marshal Evans proceeded to the place where Sowers was working, but he had not the Constable's arrival and was on the lookout. At sight of the officers he joined the "bird gang" and took to a large woods on Mr. Ellis' farm. Bloodhounds were then procured and put on the trail, but could only run the track to the edge of the woods. Thus Sowers is still at large. The Constable says he will have him if he stays in Kentucky.

ARRESTED ONE, AFTER ANOTHER.—Cincinnati, Oct. 29, 1898.—Owingsville, Ky.: Constable Morris Evans arrested Harvey Sanders near Bethel Thursday morning for the murder of Dave Frank at Crittenden, Grant county, Ky., in April. He left Thursday afternoon for Williamstown, county-seat of Grant, with the prisoner, going by way of Covington, where he stayed over night, placing Sanders in jail. He continued his journey next morning. It was rumored that Sanders' friends would try to release him as he pressed Crittenden, but such was the case. Sanders says Frank was trying to kill him with a shot-gun, when he held him to the gun and shot Frank, killing him instantly. Evans delivered him to the jailer of Grant Co. and while there learned of the whereabouts of David Sowers, who is wanted in Bath county, Ky., for stealing, and the Sheriff and Marshal Evans proceeded to the place where Sowers was working, but he had not the Constable's arrival and was on the lookout. At sight of the officers he joined the "bird gang" and took to a large woods on Mr. Ellis' farm. Bloodhounds were then procured and put on the trail, but could only run the track to the edge of the woods. Thus Sowers is still at large. The Constable says he will have him if he stays in Kentucky.

After a long visit with her mother Mrs. Mary Conner, Mrs. Samuel J. Fearning and little Henry returned home to Tecumseh, Alabama, Monday afternoon.

HALLOWEEN PARTY.—On last Monday evening, Oct. 31, a merry party gathered at the residence of Mrs. Alex. Conner, on High street. It was truly a "ghostly array," most of the guests being dressed in white from head to foot. The evening was passed with charades, games, trying fortunes with apples, candles and by means of a cake with a ring, a dime, a needle and a thimble inside. Miss Clifford Hazlett got the ring, and Miss Lillian Daugherty the 10-cent piece. The needle and thimble were left. Many were the laughs enjoyed when the unmasking came. Among those present were Misses Ora Hart, Ethel Barnes, Nellie Kimbrough, Ruth Richards, Leona Ross, Lee Lightfoot, May Kineaid, Emily Brother, Nina and Clifford Hazlett, Mary Dawson, Mary Conner, Loren Ferry, Lillian Daugherty, Mary Giddell, Sallie Farris, Edna Petting, Catherine Rice, Lottie Atchison, Louise Giddell, Edna Horsman; Mrs. Mittie Goodpastor, Mrs. T. S. Tinsley; Messrs. Duke Hampton, Hulman Rice, Sherman Goodpastor, James Ross, Wallace Giddell, Joe Conner, Ruby Kineaid. The party dispersed about 10:30, and everyone expressed themselves as having spent a delightful evening.

TALBOTT, McCRAE.—"Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McCray request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Nota May to Mr. Mason Gallatin Talbott, Tuesday, November the eighth, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-eight, at three o'clock. Pine View, North Middletown, Ky."

Mr. and Mrs. McCray are prominent and wealthy Bath county people who removed from the Bethel neighborhood to Bourbon county some years ago. Miss Nota May is their only daughter. She is a handsome, vivacious and attractive young lady, highly popular in society. She has visited her relatives here and in the county frequently and is much esteemed by her wide circle of friends.

Mr. Talbott resides in the North Middletown vicinity. He is a grandson of the late Tolliver P. Young, of Flat Creek, and a son of the late Lunsford Talbott. Mr. Talbott is a prosperous farmer, a moral, worthy and promising young man, widely known and possessing a multitude of friends. He and his bride-to-be are congratulated in advance of the consummation of their happiness. The OUTLOOK wishes them a long, prosperous and perfectly happy life.

PERSONAL.

Arthur Power left last week to make his home in the West.

R. A. Chiles, of Mt. Sterling, was in town Friday on business.

Osmond F. Hyron went to Morehead Monday on law business.

Miss Mary Reynolds has about recovered from a slight attack of fever.

James Stone returned last Thursday from a visit to friends in Mason county.

S. M. Parrell, the veteran insurance man of Louisville, came in Sunday on business.

Wm. Knox, of near Sherburne, has been visiting his son, Louis A. (Bud) Knox, for some days.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bourne, of Mt. Sterling, came Friday on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nesbitt.

Uncle John Steele returned Saturday on a two-months' visit to his son Henry, in Clark county.

Mrs. Pierce Winn and Miss Bettie Owings, of Mt. Sterling, visited Mrs. Elva Catlett last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Farris visited Mr. F's sister, Mrs. B. R. Dunean, at Carlisle, Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Dr. Lyons and children, after a visit with relatives, returned to their home at Sarginsville, Tenn., Wednesday.

Isaac Clark and wife, of Flat Creek, visited their sons Gould and James Clark, near town, from Saturday till Monday.

Mrs. Almazzan Byrd, of Montgomery county, visited her father, Wm. Hart, on Roe's Run, last week and fore part of this week.

Misses Fisher and Fleoda Green, of Mt. Sterling, visited their sister, Mrs. Horace Lane, the past week, returning home Monday.

Prof. F. M. Hurst and wife, of Millersburg, passed through here Friday afternoon, en route to visit relatives in Fleming county.

Mrs. Charles Leer and daughter, Miss Carroll, of Paris, came last week to visit the farmer's brothers, P. P. and H. H. Ewing, near town.

Levi Goodpastor has returned home, the Second Ky. Regiment having been mustered out of the U. S. service at Lexington last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Keerans and little son, of Montgomery Co., visited Mr. K's brother, Geo. A. Peed, from Sunday until Monday afternoon.

Misses Lizzie Green and Emma Eaton, of Salt Lick, were guests of the families of Johnson M. and Wm. Atchison last week, returning home Saturday.

After a long visit with her mother Mrs. Mary Conner, Mrs. Samuel J. Fearning and little Henry returned home to Tecumseh, Alabama, Monday afternoon.

Miss Lillie Davidson, of Gate City, Virginia, is visiting the Misses Stout, near Ewington.

W. Hoffman Wood, of the Mt. Sterling Gazette, and R. M. Sparrow, of Bloomington, Ill., were in town on business Friday and paid this office a social call.

Ben B. Bigstaff, the Sunday-school Evangelist of the Presbyterian Church, of Last Creek, Iremouth county, passed through here last week on his way to attend the Presbyterian Synod at Carlisle. He is as cheerful as ever and was warmly greeted by his friends.

David T. Gault arrived home last Saturday. He is recovering from a long spell of fever and not at all strong yet. Dave left here for Oklahoma over five years ago and ultimately located down in Texas. His family and numerous friends are delighted to have him visit them again.

Mrs. Elizabeth L. Hurt and daughter, Miss Fannie, accompanied by the former's sister, Mrs. Mary Conner, went to Mt. Sterling Thursday to visit a few days, and the former will go from there home to Richland, Illinois. Mrs. Hurt and daughter spent some weeks here with Mrs. Conner and had a highly enjoyable time visiting and meeting friends and acquaintances of earlier days, when they resided here.

Kentucky.

"The Empire of the South" is the comprehensive title of the volume just published by the Southern Railway. It contains nearly two hundred octavo pages and four hundred beautiful illustrations. Every State and every particular interest of the country east of the Mississippi and south of the Potomac and Ohio rivers is treated in a broad, vigorous and interesting manner. The author, Frank Presbury, has been for months engaged in the preparation of the book, and has had the co-operation of the officials of the Kentucky Railway. It is a volume which is sure to do the South an incalculable amount of good. From advance sheets we have pleasure in quoting from the chapter devoted to Kentucky, which is extensive and comprehensive, and covers not only the State's interest as a whole, but gives an interesting sketch of many of the important places.

From the days, over a century ago, when the hunter's fire startled the timid deer feeding by her rivers, up to the present, Kentucky has been a veritable land of plenty. The last years, of course, has seen a change in the kind of abundance but never in the degree. Instead of the roving game that gave meat in plenty for the pioneers, there are now birds and flocks and the sleek thoroughbred, the finest the world has seen. The mits and fruits of the forest have been supplanted, or rather supplemented, for they are still plentiful, by the rich harvests of fields and the mellow bounty of orchards. Kentucky has ever been a synonym of plenty; her progress it may be truly said has rhythm to the music of the harvest song.

To the early settlers coming over the mountains from the eastern colonies, she lay across the track of their tired feet an oasis of hope and richness. Canaan could not have seemed fairer to the eyes of Caleb than did her verdant stretches of forest and valley to the wistful gaze of these travel-worn pioneers. A glance told them they had indeed reached a "promised land" and they eagerly possessed themselves of it.

Their settlement created a union of complements. It was a coupling together of fertility and productive power. For ages possibly Kentucky had lain idle in her rich soil and had slept beneath her sloping rivers, waiting to become actual Kentucky under the transforming hand of man. This human element in just the right fiber and temper came with the first settlers. What has since been wrought all the world knows. Forests have become farms, Indian camping grounds cities, and a wilderness has been changed into a commonwealth.

In 1798 the first trails were being blazed through her forests; in 1898 3,046 miles of railways gridiron the State, bearing the commerce of 2,000,000 people. This commerce has grown to a vast aggregate, having an annual value of hundreds of millions of dollars. In its component parts are included every crop raised in America, products of the mine, forest and factory, and blooded stock from scores of farms. In the production and manufacture of tobacco and whisky Kentucky leads the Union as she does in thoroughbreds. In every branch of industry and production the State's history for a century shows a reliable return can be looked for from effort and investment. This assurance of results in the fact to which Kentucky proudly points as her warrant for her invitation to all who desire a sure return for capital or labor. That her invitation is hearty no one will doubt, for Kentucky's hospitality is proverbial.

But the State's fame rests not alone on her record of progress, notable as that has been. If restful as much on the men and women who have had the privilege, for as such they have always and everywhere esteemed it, of calling themselves Kentuckians.

This State that has been so productive in human and material forces has an area of 40,000 square miles, or 25,000,000 acres, stretching from east to west nearly 500 miles. Its surface is a broken plain, sloping generally northwest from the Cumberland Mountains on the southeast to the Mississippi river on the west. Flowing out within her borders Kentucky has 2,000 miles of navigable rivers. This is the trunk line of this great waterway system, making with its 634 miles of windings the State's northern boundary. Flowing into it are the Big Sandy, Licking, Kentucky, Salt River, Transwater, Green, Cumberland and Tennessee. Emptying into these rivers are many smaller ones, the whole making a network of waterways, which is one of the State's most valuable natural assets.

The fertile land drained by these beautiful streams has a soil which is remarkable for its recuperative power. Much of it has been cultivated for many years, but it continues as rich as the virgin soil. The most exhaustive cultivation does not wear it out, as is the case in many agricultural regions. This fact, which is the real secret of Kentucky's boundless fertility, is due to the continual decomposition of limestone which underlies much of the State. Ponce de Leon, in 1492, found in the State a land of youth, but the soil of the Kentucky farmer has found it in the hidden depths of the earth. Little wonder is it that to such soil the blue grass is native, springing from it spontaneously, and that in it is grown every agricultural staple in the temperate zone. Wheat of unequalled quality for milling purposes is raised in quantities far in excess of the State's need, and corn grows on the rich alluvial bottom lands taller and larger than in any other part of the Union. The season for corn is so long that the crop may be planted as late as the middle of June and still reach yellow maturity before frost. Winter killing of wheat is rarely known, as the climate is mild and equable. Vegetables of every variety grow abundantly, and the central location of the State and its excellent railway connections with Northern markets have in recent years caused profitable attention to be paid to truck farming.

In the production of tobacco Kentucky leads all the other States. The quality is so high that it flows the standard in many kinds. Her barley tobacco is so much superior to that grown elsewhere that the State has a virtual monopoly of this staple. As indicating the profits of tobacco culture, crops frequently average from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds per acre, and the choicest leaf frequently sells at $30 per 100 pounds. Besides the heavy 24c dark or heavy are also sold. These do not command so high a price, but the crop may be planted as late as the middle of June and still reach yellow maturity before frost. Winter killing of wheat is rarely known, as the climate is mild and equable. Kentucky leads the Union also in the production of whisky, having just completed her first century in its manufacture. The beginning of the industry was the direct result of the whisky war in Pennsylvania in 1798. At its close there was an exodus of distillers over the mountains to the wilds of Kentucky. The first distillery was built in what is now Mason county, but when the State was organized it was a part of Bourbon county, hence the name given the product to distinguish it from the eastern brand, which was distilled from rye.

It is interesting to note that in this period of general currency discussion that in the early days whisky was the principal medium of exchange in Kentucky. It possessed the currency requisites of improving with age, of ready divisibility and of portability, to say nothing of the fact that it was in great demand.

As indicating to what dimensions the industry has grown, the Federal Government receives in revenue alone about $25,000,000 annually on the Kentucky product. Measured in money it is the leading industry in the State, and pays out every year millions of dollars for corn, rye and malt, in addition to the enormous amounts to labor. On May 1, 1898, there were in the distilleries and bonded warehouses of the State 76,509,321 gallons of whisky. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1897, the production of bourbon and rye whisky was 17,459,887 gallons.

The thoroughbred is the third in the triumvirate of products in which Kentucky leads the Union. The Kentucky horse is invaluable. It is claimed that there is some subtle quality in the climate of Kentucky that gives the horse a certain quality of hardiness and endurance. The fact is fully established that the blooded horses of the "Blue Grass State" excel those raised elsewhere in speed, endurance and beauty. Mules are also raised in large numbers, especially for supplying the cotton and sugar districts of the Southern States, and to call a mule a Kentucky mule has always added several dollars to its value.

Another branch of the live stock industry which is highly profitable is feeding cattle for the European trade. These cattle, called "export cattle," are as fine as bees as are produced anywhere in the world.

Sheep raising is also followed profitably and every year more widely, particularly among the smaller farmers.

Fruit growing has claimed much attention in recent years. At the World's Fair in Chicago, Kentucky peaches were awarded the first place on account of their delicious flavor and rich coloring. In several counties peach raising has been entered upon extensively and the profitable results have become an incentive to peach culture in many other parts of the State.

When the pioneers entered Kentucky, with their axes they literally hewed out a commonwealth. The fertile farms which their sturdy work cleared, lessened, of course, the area of the forest lands, but Kentucky today is by no means a treeless plain. Indeed, the State is well-timbered, and every species of tree known to her latitude is found in abundance. The raw material is thus offered for a large wood manufacturing industry. At present the value of timber floated to market in rafts and shipped by rail represents many millions of dollars annually.

The State's mineral resources include coal, iron, zinc, vast beds of oxys, clays for the manufacture of all grades of pottery, and valuable quarries of sandstone and limestone. The output of coal in 1897 was 3,200,000 tons, only one other Southern State and four in the entire country producing a greater amount. Much of the bituminous coal of the State is of a superior quality for coaling purposes, the production of coke for 1897 reaching 30,000 tons.

In manufacturing the State is on the threshold of a splendid period of development. Much has already been done in many lines, but when the possibilities are considered it seems only a beginning. With coal to feed the fires of her factories, with her hills yielding the best qualities of iron ores, with forests growing timber for every variety of wood-working, with her production of one-quarter of the world's supply of tobacco, and with a splendid system of waterways and railways for transporting the abundant raw material to factories and their finished product to market, Kentucky possesses every essential to industrial greatness.

But this greatness is by no means only in prospect; much of it, in fact, in the manufacturing of furniture and agricultural implements, a large industry, is already thriving. In the manufacture of tobacco and cigars the State is fast coming to the position to which the primacy in the production of raw material entitles her. As has already been stated, she now leads in the production of whisky. There are in the State several large cotton and woolen mills whose success clearly indicates what may be expected in the development of this line of manufactures.

But Kentucky has not allowed herself to become engrossed with the creation of wealth to the exclusion of the cultivation of the mind. She is generous in her provision for schools. In 1897 she was providing instruction for 736,109 of her children, for which she was paying over $3,000,000. On teachers' salaries alone the sum reached the large total of $2,500,000. At the head of the school system is her State University at Lexington, with which the graded schools are federated. There are also many other institutions of higher learning, among them being Georgetown College, Central University, Center College and the State Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Tepid Bath Best.

"The best of all baths is the tepid bath." Says Ruth Ashmore in the November Ladies' Home Journal. "We hear wonderful stories of English girls breaking the ice to jump into their baths. I have known a great many English girls with beautiful complexions who took their baths as regularly as they did any of their meals, and their appetites were usually good. Every one of them took a tepid soap bath, and if she had no means of having a shower she gave one to herself by pouring water over all parts of her body, changing the temperature of this shower so that from tepid it became almost cool, but never cold. Having chosen your bath you must remember that a good rubbing is a part of it. The bath that leaves you weakened is useless—is dangerous—whereas the bath that strengthens you, and makes you feel full of life and vitality, is the one you need. All the creams that were ever made, all the powders that were ever ground up, and all the liquid beautifiers that ever existed as untruths, will not do one-thousandth as much toward unking a girl's complexion good as the proper observance of the bath and the regular taking of exercise."

A MODERN FABLE.—Once upon a time a tramp was surely in need of something to eat, and approaching a farmhouse he spoke unto the farmer, saying: "If you will give me one-thousandth as much toward unking a girl's complexion good as the proper observance of the bath and the regular taking of exercise."

GRANDMOTHER.

She sits beside the window.

In wooden rocking chair.

Through cap of hair and lace.

The snowy waves of hair.

So white it glows, so warm it glows.

An emerald leafy pour.

Through window pane and try to vain.

To make it gold once more.

I love her eyes—dim, yet so wise.

And, oh, so quick to see and know.

The pitfalls deep, the snares that creep.

The trials that threaten me.

I love her cheek, the lines that speak

Of life's long toilsome day.

The tender touch that tells so much

Of patient love away.

So old and bent, so weak and spent,

Yet keeping youth enough

To help and cheer when skies are drear

And ways are steep and rough.

I love to sit where shadows fall.

My head upon her knee.

And feel her arm, so soft and warm.

Closely over me.

I love to hear upon my ear

The broken voice, so mild,

"The long, full day of work and play

Has wearied you, my child."

Tender prayer is in her throat.

Oh, sweet, the words that come!

And sweet the tone: "My little one,

I trust you have been good."

TREASURE ISLAND.

CHAPTER XXIII.—CONTINUED.

I dropped upon the thwart again.

None too soon, for near overhead.

I could see nothing for the moment,

but those furious, enigmatical faces, swaying together under the smoky lamp; and I shut my eyes to let them grow once more familiar with the darkness.

The endless lull had come in an end at last, and the whole diminished company about the campfire had hushed into the silence I had heard so often:

"Fifteen men on the dead man's chest—

Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!"

Drink and the devil had done for the rest—

Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!"

I was just thinking how busy drink and the devil were at that very moment in the cabin of the "Hispaniola," when I was surprised by a sudden lurch of the coracle. At the same moment, she swayed sharply and seemed to change her course. The speed in the meantime had strangely increased.

I opened my eyes at once. All round me were little ripples, coming over with a sharp, brilliant sound and slight phosphorescence. The "Hispaniola" herself, a few yards in which wake I was still being whirled along, seemed to stagger in her course, and I saw her spurs lose a little again, and the blackness of the night; my, as I looked longer,

I made sure she was as wheeling to the southward.

I glanced over my shoulder, and my heart jumped again at the sight. There, right behind me, was the glow of the campfire. The current had turned at right angles, sweeping round along with the tall schooner and the little dancing coracle; ever quickening, ever hobbling higher, and almost at the end it went spinning through the narrow for the open sea.

Suddenly the schooner in front of me gave a violent yaw, turning, perhaps, through 20 degrees, and almost at the same moment one after followed another from on board; I could hear feet pounding on the companion ladder; and I knew that the two drunkards had at last been introduced in their quarters and awakened to a sense of their disaster.

I lay down flat in the bottom of that wretched skiff, and devoutly commended my spirit to its Maker. At the end of the attack, I made sure we must fall into some bar of raging breakers, where all my troubles would be ended speedily, and though I could, perhaps, hear to die, I could not bear to look upon my fate as it approached.

So I must have lain for hours, continually beaten and fro from the bil-lows, now and again wetted with flying sprays, and never ceasing to expect death at the next plunge. Gradually weariness grew upon me, a numbness an occasional stupor, fell upon my mind even in the midst of my terrors; until sleep at last intervened, and in my seared coracle I lay and dreamed of home and the old Admiral Benbow.

CHAPTER XXIV.

THE CRUISE OF THE CORACLE.

found myself tossing at the southwest up, but was again low, and behind on this side descended almost to the ## STATE NEWS PICK-UPS.

IN UNCLE SAM'S CLUTCHES.

Charles C. Moore and Jane Hughes, Publishers of the Times Herald, arrested by a U. S. Marshal.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 25. Charles C. Moore and Jane Hughes, publishers of the Blue Grass Blade, indicted and free-holded, were arrested Saturday by a United States marshal for sending obscene matter through the mails. The article that caused this arrest was published October 19, 1917, and was a most undignified plea for free love. Moore and Hughes were indicted in the United States court at Cincinnati, where the Blade was temporarily published, and will be taken before Judge Barr at Louisville.

A Carrot at Henderson.

HENDERSON, Ky., Oct. 25. Charles White and Guy Hoggood, two Negroes, marched on the street Thursday morning over a debt of $2. White asked Hoggood for the money. Hoggood whipped out his knife and almost severed White's head from his shoulders. The wounded man walked three squares to a physician, the blood streaming from a gash to the pavement at every step, creating quite a sensation on the streets. At this point White had only a short time to live, say the physicians. Hoggood made his escape across the river. Officers are after him.

A Case Out of the Tunnel.

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky., Oct. 25. Ada Smith, colored, has brought suit for $2,000 damages for allowing a white man in the compartment of a car set apart for colored people, and there using offensive and vulgar language. Two or three similar suits which have been heretofore brought in this county have been decided against the railroad and are now pending in the court of appeals.

MUST HOLD THEM

President Arrives at the Conclusion That We Must Keep Philippines

It is Probable That Spain Can Not Again Retain Its Colonial Authority over the Remaining Islands Without Insurgents.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. President McKinley is convinced that there is no way in which the United States can escape the responsibility of taking all the Philippines. He has arrived at this conclusion after mature deliberation. He at first favored keeping nothing more than a military and naval base, and thought that the United States should in recent retain more than the island of Luzon. When the American peace-commissioners left for Paris it was not contemplated that they should demand from the Spanish government more than the absolute cession of this one island to the United States and a concessionary interest in the other islands of the group.

It has been found, however, that there is no such practical difficulties in the way of such a solution, not the least of them being the evident impossibility of Spain re-establishing authority over the remaining islands without a prolonged and bloody struggle with the insurgent forces.

Information, coupled with the opinion of military and naval commanders familiar with the Philippine situation, have led the president to believe that the United States should retain the Spanish fleet in Manila bay and Gen. Weyler's capture of Manila, annihilated Spanish sovereignty in the islands and it became a duty of the United States to establish a new government that the one which was destroyed by American arms.

The president has been deluged with letters from all parts of the United States and with resolutions from commercial and religious bodies, urging that American sovereignty should be maintained wherever the flag has been planted. In this same line, the president's recent western tour was a revelation to him and the members of his cabinet who accompanied him. The further he went west the stronger he held the sentiment in favor of holding all the Philippines and establishing a new American government over them.

Secretary of State.

Secretary of State, who went west before the president, and who went as far as Denver, found the sentiment there even stronger than in Omaha. In all the meetings of the cabinet before the peace commissioners left for Paris Secretary Taft was the most conservative of all the president's advisers. He doubted the wisdom of taking even such a small island as Cuba, and would have been glad if a way had been found of relinquishing all the Philippines. Since his return from the west, however, he is an advocate of holding all the islands.

Although It Has Been Finally Determined That the Philippines Shall Be Retained, the Peace Commissioners May Be Given Considerable Latitude as to the Terms on Which they are to be Retained.

The Philippines are regarded as standing on a different basis from Cuba and Porto Rico, and some of the members of the administration believe that if all the islands are taken Spain should be given some measure of compensation for them, especially as the Philippines have been by far the most valuable of all her colonies.

It can be said that it is quite probable that the American commissioners will be authorized to go so far as to offer to place the United States under the Philippine debt, or at least such portion of it as has been expended on the public works in the islands.

The exact amount of the debt that should be properly charged to the United States under such an arrangement could not be accurately stated without a full analysis of this debt, which as yet has been made, but it is believed that it will be less than $100,000,000.

AN EMERGENCY SQUADRON.

Great Britain is According to Great Britain's War Department, a Squadron of the British Navy is being organized for the purpose of maintaining the peace in the Mediterranean.

Will Be Given a Banquet.

WANT TERRITORIAL RIGHTS.

Delegates From the Porto Rico Union in Porto Rico Held a Meeting in the Theater in Ponce Sunday.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Oct. 25. The principal theater of the city was taken to its utmost capacity Sunday afternoon on the occasion of a public meeting of delegates from the chief towns of the island to consider and debate recommendations regarding the necessities of the island for the use of the special commissioners who will be selected later to represent Porto Rico at Washington when the time comes for setting the administrative system.

The assembly was fairly representative, and although the proceedings gave undue prominence to important details, there was abundant evidence of intelligent reflection on the part of the delegates, and of a determination not to tolerate partisan politics at this crisis in the island's affairs.

Carefully prepared reports were submitted by the political, social and economic committees.

The meeting received with enthusiasm the resolutions demanding territorial rights, the cessation of the present military rule and the installation of a civil government.

Other resolutions were adopted asking an eight-hour day for the laboring man and severely denouncing the present corrupt system of registering deeds of land.

It was observed that the delegates proceeded upon the assumption that the United States would grant Porto Rico territorial rights.

COL. G. E. WARING, JR., DEAD.

Three Hours After His Death His Body Was Taken to Seaside and Cremated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. Col. Geo. E. Waring, Jr., died of yellow fever Saturday at his home in this city where he had been since he arrived from Havana on the Yucatan on Tuesday last. He was 65 years of age.

Three hours after the death of Col. Waring his body, incased in a metal casket, was taken from the apartment house he had occupied to the dock at the foot of Fifth street, where the quarantine boat, Gov. Flowers, with Mr. Doty in charge, was in waiting. The body was placed on board and taken to Seaside Island. It was there placed in a casket, and the body itself in the five which cremated the remains.

New York, Oct. 25.—The ashes of Col. George E. Waring, Jr., which were placed in an urn temporarily, remained Sunday at Seaside Island. His disposition will be made of them has not yet been decided upon by Mrs. Waring. On account of the expressed wish of Col. Waring there will be no public funeral. Col. Waring often said that he wished his obsequies to be of the simplest character.

FITZHUGH LEE'S COMMAND.

It is the intention of the Administration to Land British Troops in Cuba by the 1st of January Next.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25. No definite determination has been reached as to the date when the troops from Savannah will be sent to Cuba. An announcement of the administration official said Sunday night that the departure of Gen. Lee's corps would be dependent, to a certain extent, upon the movements of the Spanish forces in evacuating the island. The American troops, he said, might sail this week, and they might not sail for a month.

It is the intention of the administration, however, to land Gen. Lee's corps in Cuba before the 1st of January. That date has been fixed definitely as the time for the final evacuation of the island by the Spaniards. An effort was made by the Spaniards to obtain an extension of the time of evacuation until the 1st of February, but this proposition was declined by the American commissioners.

Senior Senator Dies.

PARRIS, Oct. 25.—Senior Senator Elias, president of the Spanish peace commission, is ill. This caused some doubt Sunday evening as to whether there will be a joint session of the commission Monday. If he is unable to attend it is unlikely that the Spaniards would convene a conference to take up the Philippine question for initial consideration.

Death of Rev. Samuel Muelmeier.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Rev. Samuel Muelmeier, one of the most prominent ministers in the Presbyterian church, died Sunday at his home in this city from kidney trouble. He was pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church in this city for many years. Prior to that he had charges at St. Louis and Louisville. He leaves a widow and several children.

Brought His Body Home.

DILLON, Ind., Oct. 25.—William DeLaurier, a private in Company M, 1st regiment, arrived from Jacksonville with the body of Harry Stetle, of Company M, who died of typhoid. Stetle's home at South Bend, Ind., is in the town of Stetle's death is the first in the 1st born company. Webster was unable to return to his regiment and has asked for an extension of furlough. Company M and all of the 7th army corps have been moved to Savannah, Ga., 140 miles north of Jacksonville.

Coal Mine Sold.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—The Maule Coal Co. has been sold to an Indianapolis company. The capital stock is $50,000, paid up. The company will be incorporated in Indiana. Many men will be employed in the mine and coke ovens built soon.

Found Dead in Bed.

DELAWARE, Oct. 25. Mrs. Henry Heller was found dead in bed by her husband. Heart failure is the supposed cause.

No Cabnet as Yet.

PARRIS, Oct. 31.—The Dreyfus decision seems to have delayed a solution of the cabinet crisis. M. De Freycinet is again hesitating to accept the portfolio of minister of war on the ground that in view of the role of the Dreyfus case, it would be inadvisable for two protestants, himself and M. Ribot, to hold the portfolios of war and justice.

Thus far only 43 claims have been presented from relatives of the boys who went down with the Maine.

THE HOLY LAND.

The German Emperor and Empress' Entrance Into Jerusalem.

Sunday the Imperial Pair Attended Services at the Evangelical Church in Bethlehem. Afterward Paying a Visit to the Church of the Nativity.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 25. The approach of their German imperial majesties to the city Saturday was made through triumphal arches and amid banners, garlands and overgrown crowds, displaying in every way their enthusiasm and delight.

The formal entry through the Jaffa gate was heralded by the roar of guns at the citadel, where the Turkish band played the German anthem.

From the Tower of David, Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria proceeded on foot, amid wild cheering to the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, where they were received by the Catholic, Greek and Armenian clergy, whose patriarchs presented addresses, praising the devotion of Emperor William to his subjects and conferred decorations on the patriarchs.

Their majesties then proceeded to the German Evangelical church, where the pastor presented an address. At 6 o'clock in the evening (Saturday) a reception was held at the German consulate and later there was a general illumination of the city, with a display of fireworks.

Sunday the imperial pair attended services at the Evangelical church in Bethlehem, afterward paying a visit to the Church of the Nativity.

The weather Sunday was beautiful and everywhere the greatest enthusiasm was displayed.

After the excursion to Jericho, Hebron and Pasha, former grand vizier, recently Turkish governor of Trebizond and now attached to the person of Emperor William as a special representative of the sultan, will leave the imperial suite. It is rumored that this is due to some unpleasantness.

Emperor William has sent his personal greetings to the Turkish sultan, Turkish ambassador to Germany, who was among the high Ottoman dignitaries that received the emperor and empress in Constantinople.

Emperor William and the empress, while at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, visited the various portions of the sacred shrine and spent ten minutes at the scene of the crucifixion.

Their return from the church was the occasion for an outburst of popular enthusiasm, palm branches being strewn along the way and the cobblestones laid with carpets.

London, Oct. 25. The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Mail says: According to private information received here, Emperor William's reception at Haifa, Palestine, was anything but a success. The Turkish trenches that were to fire a salute did not arrive until four hours after the emperor's departure, and nobody was allowed to witness the imperial landing from the windows.

THE FAMOUS DREYFUS CASE.

The Court of Cassation Decides to Review the Trial. His Absolute Control Over the Matter.

PARRIS, Oct. 25. Saturday's decision of the court of cassation obtains the most absolute control over the Dreyfus case. It demands and examines any documents whatever, including the dossier of any case brought against the prisoner, and can examine under oath any witness, however high his position.

In short, if the court makes a sincere use of its powers the truth will have a much better chance of being discovered than it would have been the case had it merely ordered revision before another court-martial, whose members might have been influenced by a desire to shield the general staff.

London, Oct. 25. The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says the decision of the court of cassation on Saturday was given by a vote of 4 against 3.

A BIG SENSATION AT PONCE.

Two Alleged Anarchists Lured From the R. R. Line Steamer Philadelphia From the Spanish Mail.

PONCE, Oct. 25.—A sensation was caused Saturday on the arrival of the Red D Line steamer Philadelphia from the Spanish Mail, by the discovery in the baggage bags of two passengers of a number of explosive cartridges containing dynamite.

The discovery was made by the custom officials and the passengers were arrested on the supposition that they are anarchists.

Regained Health.

Gratifying Letters to Mrs. Pinkham From Happy Women.

"Owe You My Life."

Mrs. E. WOOLHISER.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I owe my life to your Vegetable Compound. The doctors said I had consumption and nothing could be done for me. My menstruation had stopped and they said my blood was turning to water. I had several doctors. They all said I could not live. I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it helped me right away; my meninges and I were gained in weight. I have better health than I have had for years. It is wonderful what your Compound has done for me."

War Matters.

Spain protests against the Oregon and Iowa going to reinforce Dewey.

The troops were under orders to start from the camp near Lexington, Ky., to the camp selected for them in Georgia. They probably began leaving Monday by regiments.

Spain knocks under on the proposition to saddle the Cuban bonds on the United States or Cuba.

The soldiers of the Second Kentucky were paid off and mustered out at Lexington Friday and Saturday. They got $60 to $75 each.

The Administration "remembered the name" and instructed the U. S. Evacuation Commission to find out whether there were any submerged explosives in Havana harbor before U. S. warships are dispatched there to observe Blanco into reasonable activity in getting the Spanish forces out of the island.

FRANCE is in for a season of wild national delirium, Dreyfus being granted a new trial.

The Herald thinks that Van Wyck will down Roosevelt, but that the Republicans will elect the Legislature and choose a Senator to succeed Murphy, Democrat.

FRONTIERSMEN speaking the Cuban insurgent army officers are fighting over the civil offices at Manzanillo like starved Eskimo dogs over a bone.

The critical stage of the peace negotiations between the United States and Spain is reached. It is like having an eye-tooth pulled for Spain to part with the Philippines.

The result of this election will in a large measure determine whether the free-silver forces will make another reckless, demoralizing assault on the national credit in 1900.

A MERRY old time is in prospect during the establishment of a "stable" government in Cuba. The natives are likely to play "horse" with Uncle all over the lot many times before he breaks them in.

TEDDY ROOSEVELT has less than a week now to make his rough-riding round-up of the New York vote. It depends pretty much on how many mavericks, or Independents, he can secure as to whether he can brand a bigger herd than Dickey Croker.

NEW YORK will have the laugh on Chicago and Philadelphia peace jubilees if Spain continues resisting until another trouncing becomes necessary. Then when real peace comes the great metropolis will hold a jubilee as is a jubilee.

SHACKLEFORD carried the Ninth district by a good majority last year. If the Republicans want Fugh to go back to Congress they will have to come out to a man and vote for him. Regrets that they didn't vote will be unavailing after the election.

CARL SCHERER has the biggest notion in the world to take to the woods and winter his vote. The New York political plot is so mixed and tangled with State, national and municipal threads that Carl's logical mind for once is unable to unravel it readily.

PENNSYLVANIA admirers of Admiral Schley have subscribed over $4,000 with a view to have made a magnificent jeweled sword for presentation to him. Friends of the "Bully Boy" show a strong disposition to stand by him until he gets the honor due him.

UNCLE SAM—"Gosh hang it! I must apologize to Mrs. Toodles for laughing at her purchasing the second-hand coffin-plate because it was 'such a bargain,' for here I am going to buy the Philippines, and you may play me the best of the sucker in the creek if I know what I want with them!"

GREAT BRITANNIA pauses in her rule of the waves and humbling proud France over Fashoda to make a blooming softy of herself over Ted Sloan, the phenomenal American jockey. Lord Russell, Lord Chief Justice of England, says if Sloan was a British subject and offered for member of Parliament for Epsom it is doubtful that his rivals would have a chance for election.

West End.

Corn on Licking, Salt Lick and Beaver is suffering from mold and dry rot.

James Karkel presented us with an $1 lb. sweet potato. Who can beat it?

J. M. Coyle and family, of State, and J. W. Coyle, of Woodford Co., are visiting J. H. and R. E. Coyle.

On last Sunday while out hunting chestnuts Deacon Coyle and his brother Will killed a very large wild cat.

We notice in the last issue of the Agitator it says the editor was at the Hazel Green Fair, Horse swapping was the attraction. The editor must have been out on the Bazzard Road, as it was called, for there was no horse-swapping on the ground.
